MEMORY CARE COMMUNITIES

AegisLiving has developed innovative, award-winning communities designed specifically for people with memory loss. It currently has 26 Memory Care Communities, three of which are exclusively Memory Care Communities. At each AegisLiving has implemented its unique program called Life's Neighborhood™ which helps seniors with dementia experience daily living free of stress. In Life's Neighborhood a smaller more intimate setting is created representing a large family home of the 1940's. This type of setting encourages an environment of socializing in a nostalgic setting. Licensed nurses on staff and activities provide cognitive and physical stimulation to help soothe and relieve the residents as well. And all employees have special training in dementia and age sensitivity, teaching them to join the conversations of residents instead of attempting to lead them into the reality of the present.

Life's Neighborhood™ Key Features and Benefits:

- The program features Snoezelen (pronounced "snoozlin"), a philosophy of care in which sensory stimulation is used as a method of relaxation and redirection. This type of care allows for the reduction in the use of medication to soothe residents.
- Indoor Features such as chair rails, walking path, skill stations, activity boxes, vintage clothing, memory boxes and era specific music and memorabilia are just some of the features found in the "neighborhood."
- Safety and security are a top priority. The communities are designed so that residents can enjoy the outdoors and are safely nestled in apartments designed with systems that ensure residents safety.
- AegisLiving also provides resources, education and support groups to help family members understand a senior's situation.
